Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs

REQUESTED BOR ACTION: Proposed Revised Teaching Assistantship Program

BACKGROUND

- The Teaching Assistant/Fellowship Program has been implemented since 1986 to support the graduate studies of potential faculty members and supplement the teaching force.
- The prevailing Guidelines were approved by the BOR in April 2015. Since its effectivity, implementation concerns were discussed by the Vice-Chancellors for Academic Affairs in the Academic Affairs Committee in several meetings. These discussions highlighted the need to formalize the following explicit policy adjustments that were implemented to address problems of implementation on the ground.
 - TAs and TFs must have both teaching and study units with prorated stipends if their teaching or study units is less than 6.
 - Explicit statement regarding the assignment and responsibility of teaching mentors (Faculty-in-Charge) and TA/TFs;
 - Explicit statement that the sharing of the cost of TA/TF scholarships between the UP System and the CU is 50%-50%.

UP Teaching Assistantship (Teaching Fellows and Teaching Associates) Program

Proposed Revision (October 2019)

FROM Background:

The UP System Teaching Assistantship Program is now on its second year of implementation, of the of the "Teaching Associates" or "Teaching Fellows", collectively known as "Teaching Assistants", as defined by the UP Diliman Faculty Manual, are postgraduate students assigned to teach undergraduate courses in the department where they are enrolled. Considered non-regular members of the teaching staff, they are appointed on a yearly contractual basis to teach part-time until the maximum residence period allowed by UP (i.e., 5 years for master's students, 6 years for PhD students with a master's degree upon admission, and 8 years for those doing straight PhD). In return, they receive full-time graduate study privilege. The teaching load is a minimum of 6 units and a maximum of 9 units a semester, and the semester's study load must be 6 to 9 units of graduate course work or 12 units of thesis or

The UP Teaching Assistantship (Teaching Fellows and Teaching Associates) Program at the UP System approved by the Board of Regents in its meeting on April 2015 is now on its third year of implementation which started in AY 2015-2016.

TO

The program took in eighty-four (84) Teaching Associates and eleven (11) Teaching Fellows from AY 2015-2016 to AY 2018-2019. These assistants have been instrumental in reducing the teaching load of the faculty giving them more time to conduct research or pursue post-graduate studies.

Rationale:

dissertation work.

While the existing scheme for Teaching Associates and Teaching Fellows allows departments or colleges to hire non-regular academic personnel as the need arises, the proposed establishment of Teaching Assistantships recognizes the need to yet improve the supply side. It aims to give the finest students of UP the opportunity to share their knowledge and skills through teaching even while they are studying. It also aims to ease the process of hiring staff who can teach or assist in teaching (lecture and laboratory courses). As the quality of the supply increases and the process becomes easier, the demand should also increase. This is envisioned to result in more departments making use of teaching assistants to unload their regular faculty members of teaching duties.

Teaching Assistants are either Teaching Associates (TAs) -master's students, or Teaching Fellows (TFs) - PhD students, who are pursuing their studies half-time and are teaching half-time. They are postgraduate student scholars and not contractual employees of the university. It is the program of the university that provides financial support for postgraduate studies.
